ASKS PROBE OF REVOLT ACTION

From The Register's
Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Senator Eugene McCarthy (Dem., Minn.) will ask for a thorough Senate investigation into the U. S. intervention in the Dominican Republic.

Purpose of the investigation by the Foreign Relations Committee would be to find out what happened there and to establish possible guidelines for handling future Latin American revolts.

"I believe the committee ought to go very thoroughly into every decision and every agency of government — the CIA, the military, the State Department, the ambassador to the Dominican Republic — to see if we could reconstruct the course of events and decisions and the forces that did bear upon the trouble in the Dominican Republic."

He added that the investigation should include an examination of the role of the Organization of American States (O. A. S.), and the role the O. A. S. might play in future similar situations.
